

When it became clear I intended to go the distance...

As evidence they were trying to stonewall, Kevin Todd spoke of “winning by attrition” on the first call with the arbitration panel. Then HBC filed a 200-page Temporary Restraining Order to force the removal of my posted sermons, despite their own internal investigation’s conclusion that Walk in the Word was my ministry to steward, and the IP was mine personally.